What's New In?

WinAgents RouterTweak is a program for Windows that simplifies the configuration of routers, switches and firewalls, allowing to use the interface directly in the Windows environment.

Administration: WinAgents

RouterTweak is an easy-to-use solution for the automated administration of the most common configuration tasks: - change of the IP address, - the address of the DNS server, - the administration of the network zones, - the creation of interfaces and the IP address ranges.

How to use: WinAgents RouterTweak can be run from the Start menu of Windows. All processes that are necessary for the operation of the program are started immediately after starting it. You can select the startup programs in the Start menu of Windows. The program can be used with Windows 95/98/ME/NT 4.0/2000/XP. Start: WinAgents RouterTweak is installed in the C:\program files\winagents\RouterTweak folder, if you run the program from the Start menu of Windows. The program will display the following window: Here you can enter the address of a network and specify the IP address of the computer connected to the network. After that you can specify the name of the computer or the device connected to the network. If the computer or the device does not have an IP address or if the address of the computer is different from the IP address of the network, you can set the IP address manually. Figure 1 - WinAgents RouterTweak interface Change IP address: You can change the IP address of the computer connected to the network by changing the IP address of the network or vice versa. Enter the IP address and press the ENTER key.

Change DNS server: You can also change the DNS server (for example, the DNS server 192.168.0.5) by changing the IP address of the network. Enter the new IP address in the program, and press ENTER.

Zones: You can make your network into several zones in order to configure each of them differently. In the specified zone you will be able to access the computers and devices connected to this zone only. Choose a zone from the list of the zones in the program. Then enter the IP address and press the ENTER key. Interfaces: You can create interfaces for all the computers connected to the network and for all the devices. After that you can assign IP addresses to these interfaces. IP address range: After you have created interfaces, you can specify the IP address ranges (for example, 192.168.0.0/24). These ranges indicate that all the devices connected to this range of the network IP address will be accessible from this zone. Enter the IP addresses of the computer and press the ENTER key. Figure 2 -
